

MOORE NEWS

Moore & Associates continues to be a visible presence at national healthcare conferences. For many years, we have been proud supporters for healthcare associations in a variety of areas of practice. We recently participated at the American Society for Healthcare Human Resources Administration (ASHHRA) in Chicago, Illinois and the Association of Nurse Executives (AONE) in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The world of healthcare is always changing on the administrative, clinical, and support services sides. Moore & Associates understands and appreciates that staying abreast of these changes makes us an even more effective resource for our client organizations talent acquisition needs. We not only give presentation outlining our services for conference attendees, but we frequently attend general sessions on topic that help us understand the needs facing healthcare administrators.

Moore & Associates has supported national, state, and local healthcare conferences for over a decade. We find it a great way to not only establish new working relationships, but a means to touch bases with healthcare professionals we've worked with in the past. For us "Redefining the recruitment process one relationship at a time" is not only our trademark belief, but a core value of who we are as a healthcare partner. Continuing to be a visible presence at conferences is but another way we embrace this standard.
